

Diogenes

by Jim Gold

The second-century Greek philosopher Diogenes Ego-centric asked his cousin, Aristotle Unicentric: “What is the most difficult thing in the world?”

His cousin answered: “To be your true self.”

Then the philosopher asked: “Is there anything more difficult than that?”

“Be your true self in front of others.”

from Carlos the Cloud

Available on Amazon and BN.com, or visit www.jimgold.com